NEXT SUNDAY: 17th JULY

In the film Evan Almighty, Morgan Freeman (who plays God) is asked how do I change the world? His response is “by one act of random kindness at a time”.

Next Sunday, we have carved out space to ‘just try something’.

ALL of us can show those around us what the love of Jesus looks like – and we’re most likely already doing it. You don’t have to be an ‘extrovert’ or an ‘evangelist’ and you don’t even have to talk to anyone!! All you do need is to invite God to use your unique personality for His glory.

So come ready to gather at 10.15 a.m. for drinks/doughnuts then for an hour we will leave The Cornerstone Centre and see what God does, finally returning to share our stories before we end.

If all this sounds completely overwhelming then consider this - showing the love of Jesus to those in our community could be: visiting the park with your family, smiling or saying “hello” to someone in Kingsnorth Gardens, at the station, the local shops. You might litter pick, give out some flowers, pay for someone’s ice-cream, return a trolley for someone at Morrisons, some other acts of kindness that only you could think of. Or maybe you will try ‘treasure hunting’ - asking God to place someone on your heart who He wants to connect with and just say “I know this might be really weird but is there anything I can pray for you?”.

For those unable to go out, your key role is to cover this time in prayer led at The Cornerstone Centre.

This is as a chance to just give it a go. What is the worst that could happen? 😊
